

DID YOU KNOW...

RETROFITTED AND REINCARNATED - At one point in its former life, this building was a lumber yard. Many of the building supplies & architectural elements have been repurposed and reused when Playalinda's - Brix Project was built.

WHAT'S IN A NAME - Brix Project is named after the Brix degree scale, which is used in brewing and distilling to measure sugar content during the fermentation process.

A WHOLE LOTTA BEER - Playalinda's - Brix Project has a production capacity of about 30 barrels, or 1,000 gallons, per brew cycle. Each barrel = 31 gallons. Brix Project's brewing capacity is more than ten times that of our Hardware Store location.

AMBER WAVES OF GRAIN - After being used in the brewing process, our spent grain goes one of three places - a portion is donated to local farmers for livestock feed, some is used to make Playalinda Spent Grain Dog Treats, and the rest is donated to Sunrise Bakery in downtown Titusville, where it's used to make Playalinda Spent Grain Wheat Bread!

LET THERE BE LIGHT - All of the lighting, signage and tap handles inside Brix Project were made right here in Titusville, Florida by the team at Barn Light Electric Company.
